

ENG 7970

New Media Composition in English Studies

Final Reflection

Summary

Reflect on what you have learned this semester and consider how it will apply to your teaching and/or scholarship.

Basic Requirements

The reflection can take whatever form you'd like: video, audio, Prezi, webtext, or something else.

Due Dates

Final drafts are due on Monday, April 25th

Learning Objectives

- To reflect on class content and applications beyond the class.
- To help to get learning from the class to be accessible in other situations.
- To begin to explore ways that learning from the class can continue in other situations.

Basics

The basics are the minimum requirements for this assignment.

The final reflection is mostly for your own benefit. The purpose is to aid in learning transfer and make what you've learned more accessible outside of the class context. Because of this, the requirements are wide open: I want you to consider what you've learned and how you are most likely to apply what you've learned in contexts beyond this class. Aside from that, there are no requirements of form, length, or content.

Grading

Try to include a minimum of the following in your reflection:

- What you learned.
- How you might apply what you learned to a context outside of class.

Grading

- A: You gone beyond expectations for the assignment and created something that pushes your boundaries.
- A-: You meet the expectations for the assignment.
- B+: Your assignment has minor problems but nothing serious.
- B: Your assignment has at least one larger problem.
- B-: Your assignment does not meet expectations for the assignment.
